

A New Kind of Church

No stained glass windows. No pulpits or altars or incense or pews. Just people.

What have they got? A new way of looking at God, man, and the universe that really makes sense. Not a dogma, but an understanding.

Quakers, Catholics, Methodists, Jews, Baptists, Buddhists, Presbyterians. Their name—Unification—tells you they're not interested in building walls any longer, but in bringing people together.

Twenty years ago in Korea a man had the idea. Today, in thirty nations, East and West, men and women are doing something about it. Living it, seven days a week.

They say it's a dream coming true. A dream that deserves to be shared.

No stained glass windows. No pulpits or altars or incense or pews. Just people.

Like you.

The Unification Church

WHEN: Friday, November 19, 7:30 p.m. to Sunday, November 21, 2:00 p.m.

WHERE: 2955 Ashby Avenue (near Claremont), Berkeley

COST: $10.00 (students $7.00) includes food and lodging

WHAT TO BRING: Informal clothing, toothbrush, sleeping bag (if possible)

FOR RESERVATIONS AND INFORMATION: *Alice Hellerstein, 848-7492
Gregory Novalis, 841-7493*

Weekend Workshop