

God's Hope for America Bus Tour - Day 39 – On Top of the Nation

Michael Balcomb

July 31, 2014

Today was our high point of the pilgrimage... literally. At over 12,000 feet in Loveland Pass, we prayed for all the land below, as the rest of America was located beneath where our feet stood.

Our long drive through Colorado and Utah brought us to complete awe at God's Creation. "Who needs a cathedral when you've got this?" remarked Reverend Mark Hernandez from Dallas, Texas, who had just joined the bus crew that day. We even forewent watching a movie on our long drive, as the mountains surrounding us were better and more inspiring than any film.

We were heading for Salt Lake City, where we would visit the Holy Ground and the Mormon Temple the next day. Though we visited no Holy Grounds on July 30, we could feel the holiness of the land and the deep, reflective spirit on the bus.
