

God Creates together with His children

This is a paper I've long been working on. I started many times to write it. What is the right heart? It must be a mouthpiece for God, not my ideas; like my original angel and other papers were.

It's about how creation came about. God wasn't interested in making creation directly; He couldn't. Like a manager who gets credited for successes and admonished for failures, God is managing the creation process from its infancy. Father said God grew. He managed the angelic world, today's so-called ETs, in creating. Long ago they were the Anunnaki, angels, gods, etc. Principle says God is vertical and cannot have horizontal give & take (receive). Creation, on the other hand is horizontal and cannot have vertical give & take (receive). Only humans have the gift of having give & take (receive) both vertically and horizontally, so God gave His children the task of creating life, including their bodies and managing it.

The important consideration is God's children, the very beings God chose to work with Him. Lore from various parts of the world tell us beings from heaven, gods, were their makers. It's interesting that they all have the same or similar stories.

They visit us. They're described in many ways, depending on when and where they came and how oral history remembered them. Today they're ETs, the grays, etc. In the past they were described differently. An airplane several hundred years ago would not be described in today's terms, but as metal birds.

The Fall as the Bible describes it, may just be an expression of a more complicated situation. Chosen people are part of it. There have been no perfected peoples, but some infractions may not be as grave in God's eyes as others, including defiling God's chosen people.

Who are these extraterrestrial beings? Descendants of prodigal children who went about their lives doing as they willed, going into the daughters of men, losing their blessings. They're returning home to their creation, mankind. Very well they know True Parents are on the earth. True Mother has said 'no one gets left behind'. These ETs are entitled as God's children, to the blessing. God yearns for them every bit as much as us. They worked with God to create; make our home, earth. To each give credit where due.

True Parents have said for a species to evolve to a higher level takes love; i.e., care, attention, raising. In many ways the same as we raise our children, pets and flower gardens. We can observe it took thousands or even millions of years..even billions to reach today's world.

Since God has no body He needed to work through the mind of conscious, creative, responsible beings, His children, today known as ETs. These are the very beings who were cast out of Eden (earth) when they didn't follow God's word. Did God kick them out or did their own conscience do it? The responsibilities they were given from Heaven and the benefits that went along with said responsibilities could not be enjoyed. Due to their stricken conscience, at some point these beings separated from us. They've lived an existence of regret, resentment, retreat, alienation, etc. Now Heavenly Parents want them back..all of them.

A curious point is that it seems they suddenly left earth, or at least center stage. We see in many areas where they were working on megalithic structures, work was left unfinished, abandoned, but there have been reports of aliens throughout history.

By mankind creating our environment we are also responsible for it, our inheritance. People are more responsible for something they wantingly give their blood, sweat and tears to than for a gift or an order or request to do so. Of course today we are still dealing with results of the Fall and the lack of definite education for the three blessings.

Ancients

Ancients around the world have stories of makers, gods or whatever claiming to be their ancestors. Indeed many other societies have corroborating stories. It seems each one was a different group. At first glance there seems to be no commonness among all these ancients. Each maker came from a different star or galaxy or wherever; they speak different languages, yet many have similar flood stories and of surviving families or groups.

Guessing who they are

There are many stories on the Internet telling, guessing who these aliens are or could be. Some people claim to have direct communication with a group or two of aliens. There's only one God, our Heavenly Father. There are only one set of True Parents, valid for all past, present and future humans, God's childrenⁱ across the cosmos. Aliens all know this and want the blessing too. That's why they're here.

Angels were aliens

True Parents have repeated that multiplication of human spirits can only take place in conjunction with a physical body. "...the multiplication of human spirits takes place at the same time that the multiplication of physical selves occurs: during earthly life."ⁱⁱ

Only God's children have creativity and know God's willⁱⁱⁱ but in the Principle we read three times that 'Satan knew' God's will, including that he knew the Principle.

Angel belief, coming from Zoroastrian tradition along with all regional gods, replaced other beings in the Bible.

As seen above, earth has a long history of alien visitations. They came seemingly from distant planets / stars / galaxies.

Michael Tellinger among other archeologists tells of evidence in the S African region of astronomical knowledge going back even hundreds of thousands of years; thousands of empty gold mines have been found. Populations in the millions would have been needed to achieve the level of civilization reached in that area in those days.

Like the S African region, S America, Central America, North America, Australia, and many other regions have ruins of megalithic structures that required technology supposedly unavailable in those places and times.

Elite

At each period in history there was an elite through which God worked. We could see that the Jewish people were the chosen people for a while. Christians were later also the center of God's providence, putting them in an elite position. Most recently we have the Korean people. At the center there's an individual and couple, family, etc. Expanding to the national level. Defiling this center is a more serious crime than others because of the importance it has in God's eyes, especially for restoration purposes.

Image of the alien cultural environment

Below I've created an image of what these aliens might be. I don't see them as a single group, but as competing groups from different areas in the cosmos.

Earth was chosen by God as a melting point. No different from the way we look at the US in ⁱⁱⁱ DP. 3-color. Pg 58. 'What kind of spiritual..There are no beings endowed with such characteristics other than angels.'

• DP. 3-color. Pg 77. '..God created human beings in His image, with the character and powers of the Creator, intending that they govern over all things as He governs over humankind.'

• DP. 3-color. Pg 44. 'Once we fulfill our responsibility, we inherit God's creatorship and attain dominion over all things, including the angels.'

the world today, where all sorts of races and cultures are to blend into a mainstream under the Christian spirit; so were these beings on earth to accomplish this same goal. Each alien group brought and maintained its culture.

Religion speak, none made it to perfection. There are relatively good and relatively less good beings. This is a typical Cain-Abel setting. Each evolved independently. All were kicked out when a representative group fell. They instantly all became persona no grata. This is where the story of the Anunnaki comes into play.

A working relationship was created among the gods and mankind, but power was jealously held by the conquering beings. Only necessary knowledge trickled down to the peoples of earth. Consumption was limited, so horizontal development was too. Development was limited to power and elite maintenance, even worship. The masses were not educated except for those found qualified to support the ruling elite class. Though they may have been compensated well, it didn't trickle down to society nor family. Through interbreeding between the gods and people, slowly they created the new hybrids, the demigods who took control when the elite left.

Growth of our present world

Let's look at our world's four great civilizations' beginnings from the perspective of where they started out some 6,000 or so years ago. The inheritance bag was complex.

If we look back to the time before the great civilizations began to flourish we can see that a global culture existed, albeit with weak bonds. One group of evidence is found in the archeological ruins excavated. Arguably, none of these megalithic structures would be possible with the then existing technology. No one had the tools required to quarry, move and assemble them. Manpower was necessary but also accomplished engineers. Slaves or farmers taken out of farms would definitely not have been capable of handling such a feat.

There was deep understanding of astronomy that existed long ago, which ancestors of recent memory did not inherit. No one inherited the deep knowledge of math, geometry, physics and other sciences of the cosmos necessary to understand it.

Again, look at the medicines we inherited. Who could learn the complexity of how to classify and find the herbs, plants, etc. to heal? To create a vaccine for the corona viruses today, it has taken trained professionals from around the world with expensive labs and study techniques to find a solution. Even then the solutions are still iffy and slow to come. Were we given this knowledge?

We're left with pieces of our background puzzle scattered around the world, given to us in myths, tribal stories, etc. They're there, waiting for man to discover and piece together.

Profiling the gods

As we study the Principle we learn of God's nature by studying the attributes of His creation. So let us study the nature of these beings, gods to some, extraterrestrials to others, angels to religious people by studying what they left behind.

The image we get is of beings who kept knowledge jealously guarded. Evidence is that little was passed down. They considered themselves elite, above their creation, mankind, i.e., they distanced themselves from humankind. Among themselves we see but a small degree of cultural exchange, evidenced by similarities in structures in the megalithic architecture.

The number of gods coming down were said to be few in number. They needed humans to carry out their plans. Their mating with humans gave societies demigods. When the gods left these demigods took over as rulers while the lower class imitated their physical characteristics as witnessed by elongating their skulls. When Western discoverers travelled the world oceans they found locals often received them with open arms, taking them for the gods who promised to return, in some cases for their white skin.

Many able people were needed to create and manage their societies. Like repressive societies we still witness around the world today, a few qualified, promising young people were taken and raised to fill the middle management ranks. We can imagine they were taken away from their homes and environments and put in special training environments. This knowledge did not return to their homes or villages or societies. We see no evidence of it being so.

Why this claim? Stepping back and looking at the global civilization that existed in a remote past we find little evidence of a culture that spread around the globe. The fear was great that their creation would mutiny and take over. Lies, deceit, and plain ignorance was a way of keeping the masses from revolting.

For example, around 5,000 to 6,000 years ago the four great cultures began to blossom, in the cosmic span of time almost spontaneously, all at once. They had nothing in common. The form of writing took completely different directions. No two languages were similar. It seems few ideas were shared. There was an understanding, a memory perhaps that the gods were able to jot down information and / or read it. Civilizations began their long road to creating the base for their history.

A world of high consumption did not exist. It takes not only large numbers of people to do work and support development, but also education needs to development horizontally. The technological benefits we enjoy today were never achieved before. Skills and know-how is what drives economy and consumption; this takes education. What technology existed in remote antiquity was used by the elite for security purposes and to defend from and / or to attack enemies. From ancient India to the early press in Europe we read of wars in the sky with what would seem lasers and other weapons.

In autocratic societies today we see this phenomenon. They steal, cheat, kill & oppress people to maintain position and power. As people proudly tend to protect tradition passed down over generations, so nations, descendants of these ancestral gods even today will fight for them. Those inheriting nothing or little can find True Parents easily.

This character and fallen nature didn't just develop from grassroots levels but was imposed or reinforced by above powers.

Caretakers of creation, our environment

Let's go back to our original theme. Evidence exists we are products of genetic manipulation by beings we could consider God's children. It could have been but a course correction. God made our perfect spirit. This spirit may have never changed or evolved since the beginning but it had to create its body as well as environment, starting from the most elemental level. In spirit world they continued to grow. Spread throughout the cosmos each developed uniquely.

True Parents have said development takes love; evolution cannot just haphazardly take place. Love is conscious attention and nurturing added to scientific development; i.e., management.

God, our Heavenly Father has no body with which to develop horizontally. Management requires multiple senses in our world. Our physical bodies are God's body. We are it. Our physical bodies evolved from prime energy but the spirit remains the same. It's the subsequent Fall that broke God's plan apart.

Every bit of living existence was a work of God, our creator, parent and CEO, with the managing help of His children to make all this beauty around us. God needs us as His children, i.e., this also includes being His body. This is unseverable and the closest of relationships, and one our Father can work through. As children we can inherit all.

Creation has always been a team effort, starting from God, and it has not yet ended by any means. Future genetic engineering must take place for man to move to other locations in the galaxy or cosmos, making it possible to survive different environments. In a way, this is what ETs did. There could have been failures or complications, which is why they're here and we're hearing of them as simple ETs / UFO sightings, abductions, animal mutilations, etc. Results of the Fall!?

Science sees the development of life (on earth) as biological evolution. From God's creation point-of-view we see clear conscious, premeditated steps in the creation and evolution process. We can see lots of creativity and imagination in life around us, from the cockroach, scorpion and snake to our pet, snail, giraffe, kangaroo, elephant and all other cute and interesting animals. We also have tasty food, flowers for beauty and medicine, trees for shade and food, etc. Our pallet enjoy a large variety of tastes. Nothing was accidental. Over thousand, millions and billions of years God has worked with His children to constantly build our habitat. He's not finished nor ever will be.

They're back

Over the thousands of years there has been evidence that the ETs / aliens / gods have returned to earth. From art to news stories all over the world, to more recent sightings, we see these beings have not left us. Are they here as concerned parents or creators, or simply out of curiosity, having heard this is where the cosmic True Parents would come? They're God's children also waiting for rebirth.

If indeed they're God's children and they made us and we have been left with a very confused legacy, there must be a reason for this. My theory is that they also are products of the Fall, but only long ago. I.E., they also need True Parents. Restoration is done in stages. We humans are first, just like Koreans were first in True Parents providence, or Israelites at the time of Jesus. In the end all mankind and all the cosmos is included, as True Mother said 'no one gets left behind'. Our makers must await their turn. We must start with the present day situation where True Parents are solidifying their position as True Parents which includes the cosmos. These aliens in their vast numbers have to be included in restoration.

Striking God's chosen people

As mentioned above, mankind were the chosen people upon their creation. These are the beings God was to work through. Any action against these chosen people was seen as criminal. Many have suffered much for the abuse and mistreatment they inflicted on Koreans and all chosen people. The Fall may have taken such gravity. We have seen no evidence of aliens having reached perfection in the Principle sense of the word. Their fruits underscore their intelligence but lack of good character; humans received no education, we were left to grow uneducated and lead miserable lives, the survivalist mind we had to live with did not reflect a life or oneness and harmony God designed. True Parents often speak we are to leave the world in a better state than it was when we first arrived.

To be more complete beings God and all His children need to be included.
