The elementary school for the Syrian refugee children residing in Lebanon was selected as the supporting project of the 2015 Tongil Group Hope Dream Salary Round-Off Service Project. Starting in March, 2015, two tents, which were to be used as school buildings in Lebanon, were built. It was divided into a preschool and an elementary school, and teachers were hired and the curriculum was organized. On May 11th, education activities officially began with the opening ceremony.

This temporary school, made from tents and not actual school buildings, is narrow with poor structural facilities; but the children are focusing on their classes and studying hard. Classes start at 8 AM. With the active cooperation of the camp's manager, it has been said that there are almost no absentees, and the students are all studying hard.
