

Witnessing in Melbourne, Australia

Christa Jensen

May 1973

During the Easter holidays we went witnessing the whole, day through and we could bring several boys and girls right from the street into the center. They came from all over Australia. For example we took home two girls who have been students in Adelaide and they showed a great interest so that they bought the book.

A young man we also took home from the street just arrived from the Southern part of Australia, and felt how powerful the Principle is. A girl from Malaysia showed a deep understanding although she has been brought up in a Moslem Family. Our experiences are so different with all our visitors and daily we learn more and get, 1 deeper understanding of their mentality. In so many ways the Australians are original people. The history of Old Europe and the history of a newly discovered continent are mixed.

Since the 20th of April Frielke has been helping. She came from Germany to assist the mission here and within a short time she liked this country, too.
