

Report on my current European excursion

Frank Kaufmann
December 4, 2017

Hello All

Thank you indeed for your kind encouragement for my current Europe excursion

The work part of why I came here is finished. Now I spend a day or two with my Berlin-dwelling daughter before heading home Wednesday

My primary raison d'etre for this trip was to teach at a youth, leadership, training program for people 18 - 21 for the most part, (with a few a bit older).

Here is a copy of the Graduation Certificate received by successful program participants. You can see the orientation and education purposes of the seminar in the 6 point list on the certificate (I cut out the youngster's name on his certificate):

The group comprised remarkable young people of great promise and potential. It was an honor for me to be among them, and to support the exceptional staff that serves this program and its participants so valiantly, creatively, and intelligently.

Some of my lecture content included such topics as, the nature of change on paths of spiritual growth, the role of conscience in communal participation, the basic structure and relationship between piety and compassion, and the comparison between principles on how to build, and on principles of how to repair (self, relationships, environments etc.)

Below is a group picture, and a couple of random pictures (including one of me getting mic'd before a lecture) so you can get a sense of the quality of the participants, and of the program

Thank you again for your kind support and encouragement

Frank K

