

No victory comes without a price

Ali Mahjoub
April 13, 2018

For the past four decades I have been giving so much of my time studying and researching ancient and modern histories for my books.

Since 9/11 attack on The New York twin towers by Muslim extremists, something was burning inside me, wanted to know about the history of Middle ages and about the Crusaders.

I have been watching TV series, such as, Tudor-king Henry, Borgia-Pope Alexander the VI, The Madici, Reign and Mary Queen of Scotts.

Reflecting these horrible events with the past two decades of tragic wars in Iraq, and Syria that caused the flooding of millions Muslims into European countries in a biblical proportion.

It dawned on me today that whatever how bad these events of history have been, the "good" side and the "bad" side have been used for the same purpose in furthering God's providence.

In other words, humanity - good and bad - have paid the price.