Dr. Hak Ja Han Moon, Co-Founder of the Unification Theological Seminary (UTS) and of the Universal Peace Federation (UPF), a key UTS partner organization holding consultative status with the United Nations Economic and Social Council, will be speaking on Saturday September 26 at a UPF rally that convenes leaders from around the world.

The program is projected to reach millions. It includes a wide range of dignitaries including two former Vice Presidents of the United States, Dick Cheney and Dan Quayle. It will be convened by veteran US Congressman Dan Burton who serves as Co-Chair of the International Association of Parliamentarians for Peace, an affiliate of the Universal Peace Federation.

This Conference builds on previous Conferences and draws attention to the role of religion and, in particular, the religious-inspired pursuit of Universal Values, Interdependence within the Human Family and Shared Prosperity on the planet.

Two of the principal organizers of this event Dr. Thomas Walsh, Chairman of the Universal Peace Federation and Dr. Michael Jenkins UPF President are UTS graduates. Well worth joining! You may register for this exciting event at www.rallyofhope.us.
