

The Peace Academy Linz and Universal Peace Federation Upper Austria

hosted three events on the theme:

What connects the religions of the world?

The former Catholic ecumenical theologian Hans Küng initiated the idea of a „Global Ethic.“ http://www.weltethos.org/was_ist_weltethos/

In his book, he recognises and describes that the ethic principles of all religions are very similar and can be summarised by two main statements and four ethical laws.

Mag. Maria Pammer, UPF-Upper Austria, greeted the guests and guided through the program and Paul J. Ettl MBA (Director of the Peace Academy Linz) gave the presentation at three evening events on the following themes:

Thur., 16. February 2017

The World parliament of religions and the Global Ethic Project

Thur., 2. March 2017

The World Religions
Hinduism, Buddhism, Chinese Religions,
Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Sikhism and Bahai

Thur., 16. March 2017

Human Rights, the Golden Rule, the Four Ethical Laws and the Relationship between Ethics and Religion.

In total 87 participants, representatives of different religions, followed Mr Ettl's presentations with great interest over the three evenings. After a refreshment break, a dialogue was held where everyone made valuable contributions.
