

Work Opportunity to act as English Conversation Teaching Assistant in Russia

Chris Le Bas
November 17, 2016

A small group of FFWPU members in Moscow are pursuing a commercial opportunity to develop English Language Camps in Russia, which could benefit both Russian blessed families (many of whom have good English language skills but live in a very challenging economic environment) as well as members in the UK.

This opportunity is suitable for anyone aged 20 or over, who is a native English-speaker and would value short-term employment abroad for a number of weeks (probably in the summer). Work visas and travel costs will be included in the terms of employment, while arrangements for accommodation can be made with local families or at the work venues.

This would be a fantastic experience for anyone with an adventurous mind and an interest in engaging with other cultures, a vital ingredient in the goal of world peace.

To express your interest (no firm commitments required at the moment), please send a note to Chris Le Bas at cjlb@talktalk.net