

No one can know if I am perfect

Anne-Marie Mylar

June 29, 2017

No one can know if I am perfect, I am the only one who can tell.

Today I am in tune with my conscience.

I have no conflict inside myself.

I can sense the presence of God and heavenly spirits around me.

I am not as perfect as I will be tomorrow but today I am just fine.

I will make mistakes today, possibly.

But, that is not because of a selfish heart or lack of wanting to serve someone else, it will, simply be because it is today.

Tomorrow I will not make that mistake.

I will have grown one more day.