

Cornerstone, I bid you farewell

July 21, 2017

It has been my privilege to publish the Cornerstone for the last 7 years. I was invited in the spring of 2010 to be president of the Unification Theological Seminary Alumni Association(UTS AA) by the then UTS AA board. As UTS had discontinued its newsletter to the alumni and friends in the latter half of 2007 and seemed to have no plan to re-engage the alumni, I decided that at a minimum a communique of sorts was needed.

With the support of the UTS AA Board chairman, I was able to start a website and the current version of the Cornerstone. The first issues went out in July, 2010. As many start-up bloggers may experience, I had to become familiar with a new online platform and tools. In spite of hiccoughs and a learning curve, I was committed to be consistent. The newsletter came out every week for the next 7 years.

What to include?

Inspirational and informative articles republished from other sources; articles by alumni/ae; the Quote of the Week; the Virtue for the Week (a favorite of mine); videos.

Content continued to appear.

It has been said that working with the UTS alumni is like herding cats (not sheep)... perhaps that is what makes us such a remarkable collection of people, and a great community.

I bid you farewell.
