On Wednesday, November 25, the Kona Family Church held their annual Thanksgiving Eve Interfaith Concert. Over 200 people of nine different faith groups participated in this colorful and musical event, which took place at a Lutheran Church. Several local Unificationist missionaries came to the venue early and helped set up chairs and tables. It was a truly collaborative community event.

During the program, Unificationists Mary Ellen, Atsuki Masilamoney and Chuck Frumin led the Kona Family Church choir in performing the songs, "I Believe" and "By the Spring of Life." Other Unificationists and guests in the crowd sprung into song as well with these familiar tunes. The Kona Family Church enjoy this opportunity to connect with members of different faiths each year and celebrate Thanksgiving with the universal language of music.
