UPF Moscow had a meeting entitled “Goodness in Action” to promote cooperation between clergy and NGO activists serving the community.

The program was hosted by Moscow City Government NGO Center offline and featured several NGO leaders.

Two Russian Orthodox Church Priests involved in humanitarian service in Moscow and in St.

Petersburg made online presentations.

The topic of community service and religious leaders’ involvement was extremely popular and collected more than 20.000 views on social networks within 5 days after the event.
