

Book Promotion "Following the Forests Footprints"

Daruvar, Croatia, 16. October 2015

By Goran and Jolana Petrinic

Last week we held a book promotion for a children education book called "Following the Forests Footprints". It emphasises the importance of connecting the heart of a child with nature. Our blessed family, many second generation and some of their parents, supported the event with singing, reciting and creative games for kids.

The event was very successful. Many of the around eighty people who attended have been deeply moved. All books were sold. A new edition will be published soon in different languages as well. We all felt great joy to offer to the public the book with such a beautiful content and that it was received so well.

Several city majors, news agencies and the Croatian national TV were present. We hope that it was a first good step towards witnessing about God's purpose of creation through children.
