Moscow, Russia - "Women's Peacekeeping Role, Mentoring and Spiritual Awakening" was the theme of an online interview held by UPF in honor of International Women's Day.

Ambassador for Peace Vania Markovich - a spiritual mentor, founder of Simurg Open University and the International Academy of Constellations - was the guest. Mrs. Markovich is also a mega-blogger with over 200,000 followers.

In the discussion with UPF-Moscow leader Dmitry Samko, Mrs. Markovich spoke about what motivates us to give our all to our neighbor, regardless of what we get in return.

The discussion touched upon the importance of spiritual awakening, how not to get depressed and how not to take on a burden that is difficult or impossible to bear.

The broadcast received about 1,800 views on UPF resources and 3,000 views on Vania Markovich's Telegram channel. In addition, UPF website views increased 50 times on the day of the interview.
