Short Explanation of Book:

▪ Mr. Tada has been running ‘Family Power Up Seminars’ around Japan, helping parents learn how to be better parents. This book focuses on how to relate to children. No matter how much a parent may desire the children’s growth in faith and for them to receive the Blessing, this is very difficult without the foundation of a trust relationship between parents and children. This book introduces several specific methods for parents and children’s hearts to connect, such as ‘waiting for the children to find their own answers’ and ‘listening with empathy for ones children’.. This book will be particularly helpful for parents of adolescence and young adults. Please take a look at this book and give it a try.
