

Chasing spiritual children down the street on a bicycle in Cameroon

Bicycling in Cameroon (not the people mentioned below)

I was rushing to meet my friend for the public Divine Principle lecture.

She met me on the way and left again on her bicycle to chase after two of her contacts.

She was racing down the sidewalk on the bike, calling out behind them.

I had to laugh at the sight of her.

I could imagine Heavenly Father racing after His children on the bike down the sidewalk, calling out their names behind them.
