

The Unificationist community of South Carolina is planning a parade

Randall Reeves
September 19, 2016

As the population of homeless South Carolinians is rising, 35 ministers gathered for a luncheon on September 19, 2016 to discuss how to help this population of people who have lost their homes. With the cooperation of the mayor of Columbia, the group is planning a parade on October 15 to bring awareness to the problem. The Unificationist community of South Carolina plans to set up a table and pass out copies of True Father's autobiography, As a Peace-Loving Global Citizen, to reach out to everyone there about True Parents.