

Heaven wants Christianity to unite with our Unification Movement

I. Takeu

August 6, 2017

The Director of HSA-UWC Kodan, Rev. Hiroshi Inose, told CARP LA that “CARP, the youth, have to inspire Christian churches with energy and spread True Parents’ teachings.” So we, as CARP LA, started to look ways to do so.

The pastor of the City of Refuge church, Bishop Noel Jones, invited us to dance for his congregation because of Naoko Hiraki, the District 12 Witnessing and Education Coordinator who was formerly involved in the American Clergy Leadership Conference (ACLC).

The day before we actually performed the “Mujogeon” dance, we gathered in the evening to practice. After a couple hours of dance practice, we chanted 100 times as condition for the day. Jermaine Bishop, the president of CARP LA, gave us the words “Holy Spirit! Move Bishop Jones.” While chanting, I began to cry. I didn’t completely understand what was happening, but I wept even harder.

At one moment, I realized how much our Heavenly Parent and True Parents wanted Christianity to unite with our Unification Movement, so that we could bring the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth sooner. I was feeling the desperate heart of our True Parents. Consequently, I wanted to offer something before God in order to move Bishop Jones in any way possible. Even if it was really small, I just wanted to offer something for our True Parents. So, I decided to cut my dreadlocks that I had been growing for eight months. Through cutting my hair completely, I wanted to start one year of commitment for myself to grow again.