

From our Unification Church Missionary in North Central Africa

Vicki Tatz
January 1976

It might appear that we're moving very slowly (as it does to us sometimes), but in a place like this, it's simply impossible to try to make someone feel the urgency of the times.

They're simply isolated from that aspect of the modern world, and they can't even conceive of the day when Africa will be a modern place.

You can't push them to go more quickly because they're too sensitive and may become angered.