March 11, 2021

Marcia de Abreu, the President of the newly launched AMPM Spain, and WFWP Secretary General in Europe, introduced the importance of women being able to actively contribute to the Construction of Peace. She read and commented on the Article on the Declaration of Human Rights. Promoted respect, service to others, and harmony in society that begins in the family. We need education, not only academic, but on common principles and shared values, that helps us understand that we are interdependent and that motivates us to work for mutual prosperity.

Each speaker spoke for about 15 minutes. Ms. Miriam Subirana spoke about various aspects of education, relational and appreciative intelligence - of the importance of words. All very instructive.

Mrs. Roser Bosch, told us about her experience in the field of innovating education - the testimony of her life.

Ms. Pilar Quera contributed with her reflections on how to continually renew herself. And that, as a teacher, she had learned much more than she had been able to teach.

We finished the event with a nice photo including both speakers and attendees.

At the same time, a painting exhibition dedicated to Women was being held to celebrate Women's Day. The exhibition is a collective sample of several artists, from the GRUPDART association, entitled "Les Mans de les Arts" - The Hands of the Arts.
